Meade's Indecision.

The Lost Opportunity to Crush Lee's Army After the Battle of Gettysburg.

[General A. M. Pleasanton in the Philadelphia Weekly Times.]

Personally very brave, an excellent corps commander, General Meade had not that grasp of mind when thrown into a new and responsible position to quickly comprehend and decide upon important events as they occurred. He required time to come to a decision, and this indulgence an active campaign never allows to a commanding general. From the time he assumed command of the army until after the battle of Gettysburg, the most important events were occurring with such rapidity and with such resistless force that his decisions were the consequences of these events rather than the operations of his individual intelligence. From the suddenness of the repulse of the last charge on July 3, it became necessary for General Meade to decide at once what to do. I rode up to him, and, after congratulating him on the splendid conduct of the army, I said: "General, I will give you half an hour to show yourself a great general. Order the army to advance, while I will take the cavalry, get in Lee's rear, and we will finish the campaign in a week." He replied: "How do you know Lee will not attack me again; we have done well enough." I replied that Lee had exhausted all his available men; that the cannonade of the two last days had exhausted his ammunition; he was far from his base of supplies; and by compelling him to keep his army together they must soon surrender, for he was living on the country. To this the General did not reply, but asked me to ride up to the Round Top with him; and as we rode along the ridge for nearly a mile the troops cheered him in a manner that plainly showed they expected the advance. When we reached the Round Top everything was still in Lee's position with the exception of a single battery which was firing upon some of our skirmishers to prevent their advancing. I was so impressed with the idea that Lee was retreating that I again earnestly urged General Meade to advance the army; but instead of doing so he ordered me to send some cavalry to ascertain the fact. Gregg's Division of cavalry started soon after, and at 8 o'clock the next morning I received his report stating that he was twenty-two miles on the Cashtown road, and that the enemy was not only retreating but it was a rout, the road being encumbered with wounded and wagons in the greatest confusion. On this report the two other divisions of cavalry were sent to intercept and harass Lee in crossing the Potomac; but the Army of the Potomac did not leave Gettysburg for four or five days after, and then passed by the way of South Mountain to Antietam creek. In consequence of heavy rains the Potomac river was so much swollen that Lee could not cross, and the two armies were again brought face to face for two days. General Meade declined to attack, and Lee's army escaped. The cavalry rendered important service after the battle of Gettysburg, in pursuit. They captured large trains of wagons, many prisoners and were in such a position that had General Meade followed Lee on the 4th of July, the surrender of Lee would have been unavoidable.

houses, or "hurdy houses," four public opium-smoking dens, and houses of ill-fame by the dozen. In one sense of the word, this "crooked" state of affairs is the true index to the prosperity of a new mining camp; for, try to overlook the fact as we may, a mining camp in which this and all kindred vocations do not thrive, isn't (to use a well worn but expressive phrase) worth a continental for any other kind of business.

The ranch (160 acres) of Mr. Geo. Mann and Judge J. S. Beck, on the Spearfish Valley, last year produced $15,000 worth of vegetables. Successful farming here requires irrigation.

CHINESE REVOLT.—About forty Chinamen have been engaged for the last two or three months in grading a yard and laying side tracks for the railroad company south of the depot. Three days ago their work was completed and the Road Master was instructed to send them to Carlin. Cars were provided to take them up the road by Station Agent Young, but they refused to go in that direction, and would not obey orders. The head man of the gang, who acts as interpreter, offered Mr. Young $100 if he would send them west, but he, having no discretion in the matter, informed them that he could not comply with their wishes. They seem firmly determined not to go up the road, and at last accounts positively refused to get on the cars. Many of them have been working on the railroad for two or three years and having secured a "home stake" want to return to China. Though generally docile and submissive the Chinese are at times as obstinate as mules and refuse to be persuaded.—Silver State.

Fish Culture.

A great deal of study and care has been devoted to the finny tribes during the past few years, and fish culture is gaining recognition as a very profitable industry. Valuable varieties are now propagated, transported to other States, and artificial means has been used for facilitating the process of incubation and growth. Transportation is now made to supply the overdrift in any locality, and an over-production finds an outlet through an admirable system to other and less favored regions. But the last and most novel scheme is not yet perfected. It consists in a project for inducing farmers especially, to raise their own fish. It is claimed that the culture of hardy fish may be made successful by the exercise of ordinary care, and that a desirable article of food is thus secured, while the surplus would be profitable in any market. A famous pisciculturist says that an acre of water, well cultivated in fish, will make a larger revenue than two of land, and if this be even approximately true we can see no good reason one should not raise his own fish as well as fruit. It is claimed that pure water is about the only necessity and certainly if that be all, we might have many an acre of fish on the banks of the Truckee. The German carp is the best variety to cultivate, it having been domesticated for a thousand years in Europe. The flesh is superior in quality, and the best variety commands 25 cents per pound in Germany. Some of our well-to-do ranchers might try the experiment upon one of their barren acres, where the supply of pure water might be abundant. The best variety of carp can be obtained for breeding purposes in Sonoma.

Beet Sugar.

It is an established theory among scientists that the beet is a valuable plant for removing alkali from the soil, that it has the faculty of taking to itself a large quantity of alkaline material and relieving the soil thereby. It has also been proven that the manufacture of sugar from the beet is a profitable industry, it having been tried in various localities with varying success. Now, considering that alkali is the only objection to large tracts of our sagebrush land, and that sugar is a staple article, why should we not try to supply Nevada with sugar made from beets raised upon our alkali grounds. We should be glad to see the experiment tried, even upon a small scale, and we believe that the industry would be one of the most profitable nature. Dozens of ranchers could be induced to guarantee the cultivation of a certain acreage in beets, and the manufacturer is all we need. Suppose our grangers look this matter up, and report upon it, and in the meantime we should like to hear an expression of opinion upon the subject from our farmer friends.

Carpenter Bones, the new Senator from Alameda county, will make his triumphal debut in Sacramento next Tuesday. The workingmen will give him a grand reception, and a number of vote seekers in the California Legislature will act as impromptu satellites. Several Democratic papers have sought to read the Democrats a lesson because Bones got away with a majority of the Democratic votes. The simple fact as it appears to us is this: Alameda county is Republican by a handsome majority. The Democrats could not beat Crane, the Republican candidate, save by voting in the main for the workingmen's nominee. And he was elected.

NEW PAPER.—The first number of the News Letter and Mining Reporter, edited and published by Harry J. Norton at Deadwood City, Dakota, has made a welcome entre into this office. Norton is a splendid fellow, and sends out a sheet gotten up in attractive and excellent style, and written to fill a want long felt in that unique region known as the Black Hills. We wish Harry the heartiest success.

We receive the Virginia Chronicle very irregularly. It is an excellent exchange. McCarthy stir up your mailing clerk.

The Adams-Lee Nuptials.

Lieutenant-Governor Adams' Marriage in Texas.

The following account of the marriage of Lieutenant-Governor Jewett W. Adams to Miss Emma Lee, is from the Corsicana (Texas) Observer of the 19th instant:

On Wednesday evening, the 18th inst., at St. John's Church, in this city, by the Right Rev. Bishop Garret, Governor Jewett W. Adams, of Nevada, and Miss Emma E. Lee, of this city. The church was crowded, and as the bride, leaning upon the arm of her father, and the bridegroom escorting her mother, entered the church, the music of the organ breathing the wedding march in measured tones, all eyes were directed to the happy couple. The ceremony was, as that of the Episcopal Church always is, beautiful and impressive. After the ceremony the bride and groom received the congratulations of their numerous friends.

The society of our city has lost one of its brightest and most beautiful gems. Gone from us, she is under the care of one who will always say: "Come the wild weather—come sleet or come snow. We will stand by each other, however it blow; Oppression and sickness, and sorrow and pain Shall be to our true-love as links to the chain."

Governor Adams is one of those elegant gentlemen superior to the many who put on outward appearances to win worldly praise, but one of those whose

"Highest, worthiest, noblest boast, The privilege he prizeth most— To stand by helpless woman's side."

We can congratulate Governor Adams, and wish that

"Fleeting time mark only joys increase; And may their days glide sweetly on In happiness and peace."

He has taken one of our purest and best, and one whom our society will miss.

The Financial Problem.

WASHINGTON, January 26th.—Lamar's able and emphatic speech against the Bland Silver Bill was considered the more remarkable because he represents the repudiating State of Mississippi, whose Legislature failed to pass resolutions instructing her Senators to vote for the Silver scheme only for the certainty that Lamar would disobey them. Senator Conkling's absolute failure hitherto to declare publicly or privately his position on the question is contrasted with Lamar's outspoken boldness. It is not thought possible, however, that he will defy the overwhelming sentiment of both parties in his State; yet there are some who are uneasy about his vote on Bland's scheme. The vote on Matthews' resolution establishes nothing certain as to the strength of Bland's bill; but it does show that some measures providing for restricted remonetization in some form will pass, and that few will object. Blaine's position against Bland's scheme is no longer doubtful since yesterday's declaration. He expressed himself privately as earnestly in favor of a gold standard, but believes silver must be remonetized in some form. He does not believe, however, that the United States can be made the silver tail to wag the dog of the entire world's exchanges.

New York, January 26th.—The proposition to put all the New York Clearing banks' business immediately upon a gold basis is strongly supported. It is known that several members of the Clearing House Executive Committee favor it. The plan is to agree that the Clearing House shall pass no paper drawn after some fixed date which does not specify a sum in gold or its then market equivalent, thus making gold and greenbacks practically interchangeable. If a general concurrence of the Clearing House banks here can be secured the indications are that Boston, Philadelphia and other Eastern cities will join the movement. The banks of New Orleans, Charleston, St. Louis, Cincinnati and most of the Chicago banks have indicated their sympathy with the project as a means of securing safety against cheap silver remonetization. It is urged that the effect will be to compel all commercial business to be done on a gold basis. Nobody will be obliged to buy any more gold, and paper can be received at its market value. The man who obtains a loan or makes a draft takes the chances instead of the bank, as there will be no possible rise or fall of the premium. It will put everybody who does business with New York under bonds to assist the equalization of gold and currency. It is believed that our Stock Exchange would also co-operate, and that the most active dividend paying stocks would be put on a gold basis by agreement of their managers that future dividends shall be payable in gold or its greenback equivalent. Though nothing definite is yet determined, the above indicates the strong tendency of financial opinion here.

Deacon Parkinson, who goes to church, believes in hell, wears clean shirts and a white conscience, and calls a man a d—d fool when he thinks he is one, writes home to the Carson Tribune that Sacramento is the quietest, nicest and most moral city in the State. "Approbation from Sir Hubert Stanley is praise indeed."—Sacramento Bee.

Senator W. Z. Angley, of Santa Clara County, Cal., died yesterday morning, at his residence near Gilroy. Angley was a noble hearted and well educated gentleman—a true Democrat, but, better, a true man. In his loss the California Senate parts with the counsels of a man of large experience, of erudition and influence; his party loses a strong generous leader.

DEATH OF MRS. KELLY.—Mrs. S. P. Kelley, wife of the State Superintendent of Public Instructions, died in this city on Saturday evening about 6 o'clock. The lady has been sick some two or three weeks. Her malady was, we understand, neuralgia of the heart. Only a few days since she was reported rapidly convalescing, but on Friday night she was taken very ill again and rapidly sunk, dying at the hour mentioned. The lady was a native of Trenton, New Jersey, and a fond, devoted wife. Besides a grief stricken husband she leaves a bright little girl to mourn her loss. The funeral took place to-day from the Episcopal church, and was largely attended. Mr. Kelly has the heartfelt sympathy of the community in his bereavement.—Carson Tribune, Jan. 28.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Jottings.

Gold jumped to 2½ to-day.

Mr. McKay is building a brick house on Peavine street.

The Champions of the Red Cross hold forth to-night.

The next party of the Riverside Club will be given Feb. 8th.

J. C. Hagerman has just laid in a large stock of goods. It is well that you go and see.

Rev. George Jennings will preach in the Methodist Church this evening at 7 o'clock.

The civil case of McTarnahan vs. M. C. Hammer is on trial to-day in the District Court.

Portions of the Tannery flume, Wheeler's flume, Chapin's barn and other property succumbed to the late wind storm.

There will be a meeting this evening of fire company "48." Seven o'clock sharp at the V. & T. freight office.

State Supt. of public instruction, Rev. S. P. Kelley's wife died last Sunday in Carson. That noble little man has our best sympathy.

The hard times have driven Justice Richardson to utilize the room in his office. Those in search of lodging will be pleased to know that beds for two may be obtained at his place.

Piper of opera house (Va. City) fame will visit Reno with a corps of powerful talent about the 10th prox. We would not advise migration, stand by the homes of your sires.

Prayer meetings and short sermons is the programme for the week at the Methodist Church. Their regular bi-monthly social has therefore been postponed until next week.

The Au Fait Club of Carson has extended an invitation to the Riverside Club to attend a ball given by the former Society in Carson, Feb. 15th. The near future is always full of pleasant social events.

Mrs. Hickman is attempting to adorn the corner of Fourth street and Washington avenue by erecting a frame structure, which will be the future earthly tabernacle of the Gazette scowlers. Burchard will be found in the cellar catching mice.

SIDEWALKS.—The late rain has made our streets muddy, and persons going from or returning to their homes have felt the great inconveniences of wading through the muddy places. In Summer the dust is a source of annoyance. Of course everyone complains, and the stranger swears at our stupidity and misconceived economy. The remedy is plain. Construct some kind of a sidewalk. The weather is now favorable, lumber is cheap, and you have little to do. Why not go in with your neighbor, spend a few dollars, work a couple of hours and you will have a walk which will doubly repay all expenditures.

LYCEUM.—Of course yourself and lady will be at the lyceum to-night. There is something beneficial, nutritious, in a hard fought debate over questions of national interest. Don't suppose that your wife, sister or lady friend have no brains, and care only for cards, dancing, trashy novels, etc. They like to know what is worthy of a second thought. Many of them are intelligent and could handle a subject with much adroitness and ability. Let there be a good attendance this evening at the lyceum. Remember it is in the District Court room, hour of meeting 7:30 o'clock.

REMOVALS.—Messrs. Osburn & Shoemaker are moving into the store until now occupied by Messrs. Cunningham and Jaquish. Matheson & McRae will move into the quarters formerly occupied by Osburn & Shoemaker. Mr. Cunningham moves into the brick building next to Barnett Bros., which was formerly used by Bonstein as a saloon. Where Mr. Jaquish will locate we are not informed. Three drug stores on one side of a block is pretty heavy.

PERSONAL.—S. D. King and R. M. Clarke of Carson are each doing the burg to-day. King is attorney in a case now on trial in the District Court, and Clarke is looking up the case of Rover.

Jack Foulks, S. A. Hamlin and Wm. Merrill, of Verdi, are in town on court business.

A few more dominos remain at Mrs. Prescott's. Be careless or you will be left.

Such weather cannot be excelled anywhere. Foulks says he looks for fruit buds to "bust," but they will be nipped if they do.

Mr. Stoddard authorizes us to say that all persons who attend the ball to-morrow night will be compelled to raise their masks to the Committee. The object of this is obvious.

What has become of the Reno Library? Why not resurrect it and turn it and the old members over to the Reno Lyceum. Raise the dues and have a library and a healthy club to back it.

For the benefit of a number of persons (who are not Good Templars) suffering from severe coughs and colds we can recommend the following prescription: One pint of new rum and one pint of sugar. Boil to a syrup, and take in small quantities, whenever troubled with your cough. We have tried it, and know it to be good.

DEFECTIVE STOVEPIPES.—If you have a defective stovepipe about your premises, give it your attention at the earliest moment. It may cause you trouble when you are not expecting it. It was so with Salisbury & Wetherill a few days ago. Besides, it is not by any means soothing to one's feelings, as you stand around the cooling fragments of your house next day, to hear one boy say to another, "I knowed he'd hev a bonfire of his own ef he hung onto that old stovepipe of his'en."

PASSING AWAY.—Mrs. Len Savage has gone to Oakland to be with her husband during the last hours of his life. Len Savage will be painfully missed in one home. Yes, many hearts will be sad when he is gone. Len has had his faults, but his virtues were the more prominent. A pioneer who made paths over which the highways of civilization may now be seen; who patiently and silently labored where now the rapid transit of man is observed and the noisy hum of many industries may be heard; this man will soon be no more. The hand of death is that of a hard, ruthless torturer of the human heart. We turn our eyes from the painful vision of its dim, wretched outlines, and gaze upon the scenes of life, controlling as best we may those returning apprehensive thoughts of the mind, taught it by the heart, by ever clinging to the delusive hope that he may yet live. Thus we have a woman's nature sometime, but it is not weakness that prompts us to do homage to sterling honesty.

CHANGE IN TELEGRAPH RATES.—The reduction in rates of telegraphing, which we announced several days ago, is now more definitely stated by the General Superintendent of the Western Union as follows: After February 1st, the old rate for each additional five words or fraction thereof be discontinued, and that thereafter the rate for each additional word will be adopted, on the following basis of ten words: When the tariff for ten words is 25 cents, the rate for each additional word will be 2 cents; when the tariff is 40 cents, each additional word, 3 cents; tariff of 50 cents, each additional, 3 cents; tariff of 75 cents, each additional, 5 cents; tariff of $1, each additional, 7 cents; tariff of $1 25, each additional, 8 cents; tariff of $1 50, each additional, 10 cents; tariff of $1 75, each additional, 12 cents; tariff of $2, each additional, 13 cents; tariff of $2 50, each additional, 17 cents. The Western Union Telegraph Company will charge for the word "collect" hereafter the same as for a word of the message.

CARD OF THANKS.
We, the undersigned, wish to tender our thanks to Mr. J. A. Brunney, State Agent and Mr. James H. Marshall, City Agent of the Home Mutual Fire Insurance Company of San Francisco, for the highly satisfactory and unprecedented manner in which the representatives of the above named Company have settled their portion of the loss which we sustained at the late fire on Frisbie's corner. We take great pleasure in recommending the Home Mutual Insurance Company to the insuring public for honest, square, and high-toned dealing.
—[Carson Appeal, Jan. 26, 1878.]

INSURE in the Home Mutual. If your property is destroyed by fire and you are fortunate enough to hold one of our policies, your money is ready and paid when you most need it. No litigation or trouble.

A daring attempt was made by a party of robbers to capture a railroad train on Sunday morning at Kingsley, Kansas. They were defeated by the strategy of the conductor. Several parties are in pursuit of the robbers.

A mass meeting in favor of silver remonetization will be held in Cooper Institute hall, New York city, Wednesday evening. The meeting will be addressed by Senators Jones, Voorhees, Gordon, Merrimon and other advocates of silver.

In the contested case of Pacheco-Wiggington the House Committee on Privileges and Elections has decided, by a strict party vote of seven to four, that the latter is entitled to the seat.

Judge Whittaker, of New Orleans, has refused a change of venue in the cases of the members of the Louisiana Returning Board. They will be tried separately, the case of General Anderson coming up first. From the character of the jury, it is considered their conviction is a foregone conclusion.

WANTED.—One or two young ladies to learn Dressmaking. Apply at Mrs. Emerson's, Opposite Odd Fellows' Hall. 1-44f

NEW COMERS.—Tandy & Cook respectfully inform the citizens of Reno that they have leased the Bidden photograph gallery for a short time, and will be pleased to receive the patronage of all who are aiming to get first class pictures of themselves. We guarantee our work to be equal in tone and finish to that produced at the first galleries of San Francisco. We will remain in Reno but a few weeks, and feel confident that we will satisfy all who may favor us with their patronage during that time. Respectfully,
1-34f TANDY & COOK.
